Work Slowdowns Hit East Germany

Reds Disturbed,
Seem Confused

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP) — Sullen East German workers have thrown a new fight into Communist ranks by a rash of slowdowns in vital Russian zone plants. Evidence piled up today that the Red regime seems confused as to how to combat it.

The ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party sent its top trouble-shooter yesterday to Halle in an effort to drag the issue into the open and find a solution. The party newspaper said Hermann Matern, Politburo member and head of the Control Commission, had found a "highly disturbing" set of affairs.

Production Plan Off

Matern reported back that the big railway repair shops on the outskirts of Halle have been limping along in an obvious slowdown strike for weeks. The production plan fell 10 per cent short of normal in August and so far in September is running at only 50 percent of capacity, Matern said.

In a meeting of party leaders of the area, Matern demanded "a final handling of the provocateurs who are 'sabotaging' the economy.

Halle, near Leipzig, was particularly riotous in the June 17 uprisings.

Hint In Red Press

Worried government and party leaders indicated the slowdown weapon is being used in more areas. A week ago there was a hint in the Communist press that production in Goerlitz on the Polish border and in the shipyard city of Rostock was far below normal.

The party's Neues Deutschland said this morning that the "fight against provocateurs and enemies" has been too weakly handled in the entire Potsdam area, outside Berlin. Kurt Seibt, first secretary for the district, admitted in an article that "resistance by the workers" is a continuing question. He added that a machine tractor plant in Schulzendorf was plagued by sabotage and that "is not an isolated case."

Japanese Forge Bi-Partisan Plan For Rearmament

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 28 (AP) — Leaders of Japan's two most powerful political parties closed ranks yesterday and forged a bi-partisan rearmament plan to speed national defense.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida of the dominant Liberal party called on Mamoru Shigemitsu, leader of the second ranking Progressive party and ironed out long-standing past differences on the touchy arms issue, according to a statement issued to the press.

Accord Doubtless Significant

Yoshida leads 201 Liberals in the 466-man House of Representatives and Shigemitsu controls 76 Progressives—more than enough for a solid majority.

The agreement was doubly significant for it may eventually lead to a coalition of the two parties and stabilize stormy Japanese politics.

It also paved the way for acceptance of mutual security aid from the United States to bolster Japanese defense against Communist aggression.

Yoshida has expressed desire to accept mutual security aid, but lagged in negotiations in the face of heavy left-wing political attacks.

Self-Defense Force

During the past two years, Yoshida has built up the national safety force of 110,000 men and a coastal safety force of a few dozen small frigates and landing vessels.

However, Yoshida in the past steadily has claimed he was against rearmament—prohibited by Japan's constitution—and that the ground and sea forces were assigned only to police duties for quelling internal disorders.

Under the agreement with Shigemitsu, it was announced the national safety force will be renamed the self-defense force and "defense from direct aggression will be added to its assignments."

Helen Traubel Breaks With Met Over Night Club Career

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera and foremost Wagnerian soprano Helen Traubel came to a parting of the ways today in a dispute over her budding career as a night club singer.

The breach was disclosed in an exchange of letters released by a spokesman for Miss Traubel, who recently made her night club debut at the Chez Paree, Chicago. The exchange was climaxed by Miss Traubel's refusal to sign a new contract to appear in the opera.

The first letter, dated Sept. 25th, was written by Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Met.

Bing, taking note of Miss Traubel's night club activities, called attention to the fact that she had not returned a contract, offered some time ago, to participate in the opera season starting next month.

He asked assurances that Miss

Sen. McCarthy Would Stump For GOP In '54

Offers To Campaign For His Colleagues Between Hearings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will be on tap to campaign for Republican senatorial candidates in crucial states in next year's battle for control of Congress.

McCarthy, who has drawn sharp criticism from some Democrats for his congressional inquiry methods, said in an interview he intends to keep his Senate investigating subcommittee going at full blast during the 1954 campaign.

Between hearings, however, he said he will be available to campaign for Republican colleagues who invite him into their states. He is understood to have invitations already from state GOP officials in California and Wyoming, with more likely to be forthcoming.

Spain To See No Great GI Influx Under Base Pact

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will be on tap to campaign for Republican senatorial candidates in crucial states in next year's battle for control of Congress.

McCarthy, who has drawn sharp criticism from some Democrats for his congressional inquiry methods, said in an interview he intends to keep his Senate investigating subcommittee going at full blast during the 1954 campaign.

Between hearings, however, he said he will be available to campaign for Republican colleagues who invite him into their states. He is understood to have invitations already from state GOP officials in California and Wyoming, with more likely to be forthcoming.

Spain will see no great influx of Yankee personnel under the newly-signed U.S.-Spanish aid-for-bases pact.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee, told a Democratic rally at Chicago recently that "McCarthyism" had become synonymous abroad with "inquisitions, purges, book-burning, repression and fear."

Some Demos Discount Issue

But some Democrats at the meeting, particularly among the Southerners, were inclined to discount the issue. A panel discussion by state chairmen brought out Dixie views that the party was paying too much attention to the Wisconsin senator at the expense of much more vital issues.

Without reference to the McCarthy question, Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said he believes the paramount issue in next year's congressional election will revolve around farm price problems.

Gen. Bolte Doubts Soviet Union Has Atomic Artillery

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Sept. 27 (AP) — Gen. Charles L. Bolte, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Army in Europe, said today it is doubtful the Soviet Union has atomic artillery.

Without reference to the McCarthy question, Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said he believes the paramount issue in next year's congressional election will revolve around farm price problems.

Russia To Blast U.S.-Spanish Pact

AMERICAN operations at the naval and airbases Spain is permitting the United States to use will be under a special mission to be set up immediately under Ambassador Dunn. But the terms of the agreement call for the use of Spaniards wherever possible in the big new program for developing those bases for joint Spanish-American use and for renovating and expanding this country's outmoded military machine.

226 Million In U. S. Aid

American aid totaling 226 million dollars will be supplied Spain under the mutual security program in the current fiscal year ending next June 30. American sources here said a telegram received here from the office of mutual security director Harold E. Stassen urged that shipments of material to Spain be "stepped up" beyond the original plan.

If the United States can supply the money, the modern arms and equipment, Spain can certainly supply the manpower. Western military experts say Spain has a good supply of tough, seasoned, well-disciplined men essential for the building program.

Among these are 350,000 well-trained soldiers divided into 20-odd divisions which could be expanded into a million-and-a-half man army of 60 divisions.

Moscow has given two hints what Vishinsky now is expected to answer. Tass issued a statement by the Soviet Trade Unions Central Committee opposing a Big Four meeting because Western Big Three pre-conditions were declared unsatisfactory. Moscow radio assailed the Spanish pact as an "open military alliance . . . to involve Franco Spain in the military blocs."

The spokesman, Amidi Noori, said he will be accused under Section 317 of the Iranian penal law, which carries penalty of death by hanging.

It covers uprisings aimed at upsetting the Pahlavi dynasty set up by Reza Shah—father of the present monarch—30 years ago.

Storm Adds Realism To 'Exercise Mariner'

ABOARD HMS VANGUARD, Sept. 27 (AP) — A howling North Atlantic storm bounced battleships, carriers and cruisers around like toys off Iceland today as a British and American task force pushed through "Exercise Mariner."

The U. S. Cruiser Worcester messaged that several men had been injured in the heavy blow and the cruiser was forced to drop behind to repair storm damage.

Life rafts were torn away from some American ships and furniture was smashed on the battleship Vanguard.

The storm added tough and bitter realism to the NATO maneuvers in which the task force is trying to run down an "enemy raider" spotted by planes off the northern coast of Iceland.

Taxi Radio Helps Maryland Police Nab Jail Breaker

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 27 (AP) — Two-way radio in a taxi today helped police nab a man who had fled from a jail at Chamberburg, Pa.

Maryland state police said Lloyd Beard, 42, who had been a trustee at the Franklin County jail, Chambersburg, was picked up at a road-block at nearby Leitersburg, Md. He was riding in a cab headed for Hagerstown.

Pennsylvania state police earlier had notified Maryland authorities they believed the man was heading for Hagerstown in a cab. A check with cab companies and a radio call to a taxi bound from Waynesboro, Pa., indicated the man was aboard.

Despite advance reports he would deal with international affairs and particularly Yugoslav-Italian relations, he concentrated on domestic issues, including agriculture and religion.

Huge Sign Removed

A huge sign proclaiming "We want the internationalization of Trieste — We want the ethnical territory to be incorporated into Yugoslavia" was removed from the front of the rostrum from which Tito spoke. That action, obviously on official instruction, furnished some support for speculation here that diplomatic negotiations are underway to settle the bitter feud between Yugoslavia and Italy over the future of the strategic Adriatic seaport.

Tito has demanded the internationalization of the port of Trieste itself with Yugoslavia acquiring the surrounding area, which was declared a free territory under the Italian peace pact. Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella has countered with a call for a plebiscite to determine control of the area.

Flow Of Exchanges

Since their proposals were advanced there has been a continuing

Gen. Bolte, rugged 58-year-old veteran of two world wars, is leaving Tuesday to become the Army vice chief of staff in Washington. But he has prepared for the integration of the new big guns in Allied defenses after his departure.

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 28 (AP)—Last week's typhoon dealt a near knockout blow to Japan's pear cultivation industry. Asahi reported today, causing an estimated $5 million dollars damage.

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Sept. 28 (AP)—An official source said today it probably would be left up to each side whether "explanations" are made to balky Korean War prisoners in groups or individually.

Official ground rules for the explanations still have not been announced by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, of which India is chairman.

They were expected today, but an Indian spokesman said last-minute revisions in wording were necessary, although the rules "have been finalized."

The announcement of the rules for giving explanations to prisoners refusing to return home may be released tomorrow or possibly even later.

The target date to begin the explanations is Oct. 1.

Explosive Situation

There was no indication of whether the agreed ground rules for explanations would force a prisoner to listen.

This is the explosive aspect of the explanations. The Allied command has strongly contended that no prisoner should be forced to listen against his will.

The Communists have insisted that explanations must be made to all prisoners.

Mothers Believe Love For Sons Could Best Reds

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP) — Three Texas mothers are prayerfully ready to match a mother's love against the Communistic beliefs reportedly adopted by their sons.

Each said she was ready to fly to the neutral zone in Korea and talk, as only a mother can, to her son.

Four Texans are among the 23 Americans listed as turning down a chance to gain freedom from their Communist captors. They are represented as having been converted to communism.

Mothers of three of the Texans were asked Sunday by The Associated Press if they would go to their sons' sides if they could, and if they thought such mother-to-son talks would be effective.

The mother of the fourth Texan could not be contacted.

"I'd be ready in a minute," said Mrs. O. L. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., mother of Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor. "It would have more effect for mothers to talk to them than anything else."

Mrs. Albert F. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex., is ready to go to her son, Cpl. Lewis W. Griggs.

"Any time that can be arranged I will be more than willing to go and do my part."

Her voice caught as she added: "I'd like to take my hands and put them on my boy's head, hold his face in my hands. I don't believe my boy has turned Communist."

Mrs. Ben Howard, widowed former mother of Sgt. Rufus E. Douglas of San Angelo, said:

"I would be perfectly willing to go if only my health will permit such a trip. I know I could convince him to return if only I could reach him some way. He doesn't know I'm alone now, with my husband dead."

Mrs. J. H. Adams of Corsicana, mother of the fourth Texas POW Sgt. Howard Gayle Adams, could not be reached today.

Refusal To Help Cuba Newsprint Project Assailed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) scored the Commerce Department today for the way it handled a Cuban request for help in developing newsprint from sugar cane waste. He asked whether employees involved had any ties with paper companies.

Kefauver wrote Secretary of Commerce Weeks he had been informed that on July 20, after a two-month delay, the department refused Cuba the requested loan of Jesse Friedman, the department's chief expert on bagasse (sugar cane waste).

The senator asked whether the request was handled by "any dollar-a-year men in the Department of Commerce who worked for paper companies" (or) by "any regular Commerce Department officials previously employed by paper companies."

He also advised Weeks that he would like the name of the person or persons "who prepared the department's letter of July 20 refusing the Cuban request."

A Commerce Department spokesman said Commerce had not been negotiating directly with Cuba about the loan of Friedman, but had been working through the State Department. He said official comment on Kefauver's letter might not be available until Secretary Weeks has drafted a reply to the senator.

It was understood the newsprint problem was being worked out under the direction of Craig R. Shaeffer, assistant secretary for domestic affairs, who resigned Sept. 15 and returned to his former pen business. Shaeffer's resignation came as an aftermath of a row over merits of a battery additive known as AD-X2.

Kefauver said his information was that the State Department approved of loaning Friedman, but the Commerce Department "declined to spare him even though the Cuban government offered to pay all expenses so there would be no cost to the American taxpayer."

Brown said she told how, within the hour after Young and the children were slain, Santo and Perkins came for her, later divided up the $7,000 in loot and had her burn personal papers taken from Young.

Meanwhile, officers arrested George W. Boles, a sanitorium worker, and got from him confessions in the Colner torture and the Hansen slaying.

Bales implicated Santo and Perkins in both and said Miss Hansen drove the getaway car in the Hansen slaying.

Bales and the woman were indicted.

Yesterday at the end of a marathon questioning, Nevada County Sheriff Wayne Brown said Miss Hansen broke down and signed a five-page confession.

Support Grows For High Floor On Farm Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Reports from the farm country indicate growing concern over the agricultural situation and perhaps increasing support for a high floor on farm prices.

Politicians here are weighing the situation to see whether it foretells a shift in the position of three big farm organizations on the price support question.

Falling farm prices and incomes, accumulating crop surpluses and declining foreign markets have combined to create a major problem for Congress when it convenes in January.

Scores of proposals are being suggested, some by government farm officials, some by members of Congress, some by farmers and their organizations.

When congressional committees get down to the task of writing new legislation, the question of government price supports for farm products is expected to become a basic issue.

On this question the major farm organizations are not united. All endorse the idea of the government placing floors under farm prices designed to be fair to farmers in relation to price they pay.

Three major farm groups have contended that the 90 per cent parity supports are too high, except in periods of shortages and other emergencies. They are the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

On the other hand, the National Farmers' Union has favored the so-called high supports. It would put them at 100 per cent of parity and keep them there year in and year out. Furthermore, it would extend the supports to many crops and livestock and livestock products not now covered.

Hit-Run Driver Kills Williamsport Man

HAGERSTOWN, Sept. 27 (AP) — A hit-and-run driver struck and killed a Williamsport man late last night. State Police reported.

Police said the victim was Victor David Mills, 67, of Williamsport, Rt. 2. They said there were no clues as to who might have hit the man.

State Trooper Clyde Tucker said Mills was dead when found on U.S. Route 11, between Hagerstown and Williamsport, shortly after 11 p.m.

Man Held In Fatal Shooting Of His Wife

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Sept. 27 (AP) — Frank Henry Faunce, 65, of nearby Palmers, was being held in St. Mary's County jail on a murder charge today in the shooting of his 55-year-old wife and mother of 13 children.

MFaunce was shot in the head with a .38 caliber pistol in the kitchen of their home last night. Police said it followed a family argument.

Harcum issued a statement yesterday in reference to a group of patentees claiming "unowned" land on the beach south of Ocean City.

Robert C. Walker filed claims to land built up by action of winds and tides and contended it was a "gift of the sea," not owned by anyone.

Under Maryland law, patentees are issued to persons making successful claims to unowned land.

Mobster's Loves Help Solve Murder Of Four

Doomed Slayer Named As Killer Of Grocer, 4 Tots

NEVADA CITY, Calif., Sept. 27 (UPI)—The jealous loves of a mountain mobster were credited today by officers of this gold mining country with solving the nearly year-old horror mystery of a grocer and three children, brutally beaten to death.

The four victims, officers said, were among seven persons who died because they got in the way of a man seeking easy money for himself and his women.

One woman supplied the tipoff when she bragged how she put it over on another woman by slipping off to Reno with the mobster for a free-spending weekend. The other woman, now held for an earlier killing, cleared up everything with a confession, the Nevada County sheriff's office announced.

Santo Already Doomed

Santo now faces a death sentence for the robbery-killing last March of a wealthy widow, Mrs. Mabel Monahan, in Southern California. So does his constant companion, Emmett Perkins, 44, and one of Santo's girl friends, Barbara Graham.

But Santo's home territory was the high Sierra lumber and gold country of Northern California where he spent much time with his common law wife, Harriett Henson, 30.

Nov. 29, 1951, a gold buyer, Andrew Colner, was tortured and robbed of $4,000 in gold at Folson. The following Dec. 29, Edmund Hansen, a gold miner, was shot to death in Nevada City by men trying to rob him of $40,000 in gold.

Oct. 10, 1952, grocery Guard Young and three children were killed near Chester in nearby Plumas County by men who seized more than $7,000. Young had withdrawn from a bank to cash lumber jacks' pay checks.

Woman Puts Officers On Trail

A woman employee of Beale Air Base who bragged she spent a weekend in Reno with Santo shortly after the Chester killings put officers on his trail. The woman thought Santo won his money at the gaming tables. Plumas County Sheriff Melvin H. Schooley said he quickly disproved that and kept his eye on Santo but couldn't pin anything on him.

Meanwhile, officers arrested George W. Boles, a sanitorium worker, and got from him confessions in the Colner torture and the Hansen slaying.

Boles implicated Santo and Perkins in both and said Miss Henson drove the getaway car in the Hansen slaying.

Boles and the woman were indicted.

Yesterday at the end of a marathon questioning, Nevada County Sheriff Wayne Brown said Miss Henson broke down and signed a five-page confession.

Brown said she told how, within the hour after Young and the children were slain, Santo and Perkins came for her, later divided up the $7,000 in loot and had her burn personal papers taken from Young.

Easy Scent To Follow

DETROIT, Sept. 27 (UPI)—Police easily picked up the scent of a young escapee from the Boys Republic in suburban Farmington today.

The boy had stolen a panel truck for his getaway. He abandoned it, however, when he found a skunk also had taken refuge there.

From the truck police traced the boy and found him hiding in a a half-milllion in the past 22 years.

Refusal To Help Cuba Newsprint Project Assailed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (UPI)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) scored a victory for the Commerce Department today for the way it handled a Cuban request for help in developing newsprint from sugar cane waste. He asked whether employees involved had any ties with paper companies.

Kefauver wrote Secretary of Commerce Weeks he had been informed that on July 20, after a two-month delay, the department refused Cuba the requested loan of Jess Friedman, the department's chief expert on bagasse (sugar cane waste).

The senator asked whether the request was handled by "any dollar-a-year man in the Department of Commerce who worked for paper companies" (or) by "any regular Commerce Department officials previously employed by paper companies."

He also advised Weeks that he would like the name of the person or persons "who prepared the department's letter of July 20 refusing the Cuban request."

A Commerce Department spokesman said Commerce had not been negotiating directly with Cuba about the loan of Friedman, but had been working through the State Department. He said official comment on Kefauver's letter might not be available until Weeks has drafted a reply to the senator.

It was understood the newsprint problem was being worked out under the direction of Craig R. Shaeffer, assistant secretary for domestic affairs, who resigned Sept. 15 and returned to his fountain pen business. Shaeffer's resignation came as an aftermath of a row over merits of a battery additive known as AD-X2.

Kefauver said his information was that the State Department approved of loaning Friedman, but that the Commerce Department "declined to spare him even though the Cuban government offered to pay all expenses so there would be no cost to the American taxpayer."

Great Britain's population has increased about four and one-half million in the past 22 years.

Mothers Believe Love For Sons Could Best Reds

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 27 (UPI)—Three Texas mothers are prayerfully ready to match a mother's love against the Communistic beliefs reportedly adopted by their sons.

Each said she was ready to fly to the neutral zone in Korea and talk, as only a mother can, to her son.

Four Texans are among the 23 Americans listed as turning down a chance to gain freedom from their Communist captors. They are represented as having been converted to communism.

Mothers of three of the Texans were asked Sunday by The Associated Press if they would go to their sons' sides if they could, and if they thought such mother-to-son talks would be effective.

The mother of the fourth Texan could not be contacted.

"I'd be ready in a minute," said Mrs. O. L. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., mother of Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor. "It would have more effect for mothers to talk to them than anything else."

Mrs. Albert F. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex., is ready to go to her son, Cpl. Lewis W. Griggs.

"Any time that can be arranged I will be more than willing to go and do my part."

Her voice caught as she added: "I'd like to take my hands and put them on my boy's head, hold his face in my hands. I don't believe my boy has turned Communist."

Mrs. Ben Howard, widowed foster mother of Sgt. Rufus E. Douglas of San Angelo, said:

"I would be perfectly willing to go if only my health will permit such a trip. I know I could convince him to return if only I could reach him some way. He doesn't know I'm alone now, with my husband dead."

Mrs. J. H. Adams of Corsicana, mother of the fourth Texas POW Sgt. Howard Gayle Adams, could not be reached today.

Schedule For Administering Diphtheria Shots Announced

The Allegany County Health Department and the Allegany County Board of Education have completed arrangements for administering diphtheria toxoid to the first and fourth grade students of county schools.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said first grade students who have not already received such protection will be given two injections — about a month apart. The first grade students who have already received "shots" for diphtheria will be given single injections, or "booster" shots, as will the fourth grade students.

Forms were distributed recently to the students of the two grades concerned, which were to be filled out by parents with the information concerning any previous injections for the disease.

The schedule for the injections follows:

Today: 9:30 a.m. St. Michael's Parochial School, Frostburg; 11:15 a.m. Lincoln School, Frostburg; Tomorrow: 9:30 a.m. Mt. Savage Parochial; 10:15 a.m. Mt. Savage Public; 1:30, Eckhart.

Extermination Work Ordered To Rid Homes Of Dangerous Spiders

With the finding of two black widow spiders in three days in an apartment at the Jane Frazier Village, orders have been prepared to have an exterminator go to the Mapleside housing project to get rid of the dangerous insects.

It was on Thursday that a female black widow spider was found in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Whetzel. They have two children. The highly dangerous insect was found in the bathroom of the Whetzel apartment.

Saturday another black widow spider was found in the bathroom. A call was made to the City Health Department, which confirmed the fact that the spiders are the deadly variety, and plans are to fumigate the apartment to destroy any nest of the insects which may still remain.

The first spider was caught alive and placed in a bottle. The Health Department then certified it was of the dangerous black widow species. The one spotted yesterday was killed by Mr. Whetzel. The family will reside with relatives during the couple of days required to carry out the extermination work.

6,000 Voters' Cards Mailed To Companions

Nearly 6,000 more voters' identification cards were mailed out last week by registrars of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, bringing to nearly 10,000 the number distributed so far. Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars, urge that any voter receiving a card with an incorrect address send it back so that a new and correct one can be distributed. No voter is allowed to keep more than one card, so the old one must be returned to the board's office in the Court House basement.

Those mailed Friday went to voters in Election Districts 3, Flintstone; 4-2, 4-4, A-J; 4-4 K-Z; 4-5, A-J; 4-5, K-Z; 4-7, A-J; 4-7, K-Z, all in South End; 5-2, 5-4, A-J; 5-4, K-Z; 5-5, and 5-6, all in North End.

Mailed out last week were 5,941 bringing the total distributed to 9,735.

A feature of the observance of Fire Prevention Week by the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company will be a program Friday at 7:30 p. m. during which the burning of a $10,000 mortgage will take place.

Joseph Stuckey, treasurer of the company, is in charge of arrangements for the program. The speaker will be A. Charles Stewart, register of wills for Allegany County.

Stuckey stated, adding that a demonstration will be presented by Tom Owens, senior instructor of the Fire Prevention Service of the University of Maryland.

A film will be shown following the program, which is open to the public.

Extermination Work Ordered To Rid Homes Of Dangerous Spiders

With the finding of two black widow spiders in three days in an apartment at the Jane Fletcher Village, orders have been prepared to have an exterminator go to the Mapleside housing project to get rid of the dangerous insects.

It was on Thursday that a female black widow spider was found in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Whetzel. They have two children. The highly dangerous insect was found in the bathroom of the Whetzel apartment.

Saturday another black widow spider was found in the bathroom. A call was made to the City Health Department, which confirmed the fact that the spiders are the deadly variety, and plans are to fumigate the apartment to destroy any nest of the insects which may still remain.

The first spider was caught alive and placed in a bottle. The Health Department then certified it was of the dangerous black widow species. The one spotted yesterday was killed by Mr. Whetzel. The family will reside with relatives during the couple of days required

6,000 Voters' Cards Mailed To Comptons

Nearly 6,000 more voters' identification cards were mailed out last week by registrars of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, bringing to nearly 10,000 the number distributed so far.

Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars, urge that any voter receiving a card with an incorrect address send it back so that a new and correct one can be distributed. No voter is allowed to keep more than one card, so the old one must be returned to the board's office in the Court House by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Miss Hamburg is accused of firing at Bognar the night of September 11 as he arrived home from a business trip. She had been employed as a domestic in his home for six years but had been fired. Her trial is expected next week.

Those mailed Friday went to voters in Election Districts 3, Flintstone; 4-2, 4-4, A-J; 4-4 K-Z; 4-5, A-J; 4-5, K-Z; 4-7, A-J; 4-7, K-Z, all in South End; 5-2, 5-4, A-J; 5-4, K-Z; 5-5, and 5-6, all in North End.

Mailed out last week were 5,941 bringing the total distributed to 9,735.

Curtains For The RFC

The depression-born Reconstruction Finance Corporation, after more than a score of years as the government's principal lending agency, is on its way out. All of its lending functions expire today. Some of them have already been assumed by the much more modest Small Business Administration. This came into being August 1 as successor to the Small Defense Plants Administration.

The RFC was said by Jesse Jones, its long-time chairman, in January 1945 to have authority, independent of any action by Congress, to lend "any amount, for any length of time, at any rate of interest, to anybody." This is the agency which after World War II made loans to luxury hotels, gambling establishments, a juke box factory, even a snake farm—all in the name of encouragement to small business.

Although most of its troubles came during the Truman administration, the RFC was no Democratic invention. The lending agency goes all the way back to January 1932, when President Hoover was in the White House. In his State of the Union message of the preceding December he had asked Congress to set up a temporary (two-year) agency "to furnish during the period of the depression credits, otherwise unobtainable under existing circumstances, in order to give confidence to agriculture, industry and labor against further paralyzing influences."

Under President Roosevelt, the RFC offered convenient machinery for extending government credit to states and localities, to sufferers from disasters, and to other groups that needed a helping hand. In the middle 1930s Republican congressmen were complaining, not that the RFC was too liberal, but that its policies on loans to industry were too harsh.

During World War II, the RFC made very large advances to defense industries and to Allied governments. And then, under the Truman Fair Deal, its chief activity was lending to small business—also to some businesses not so small.

The Hoover Commission in April 1949 "strongly" recommended liquidation of the agency, which it said was "accountable to nobody." The death sentence for the RFC imposed at the 1953 session of Congress culminated a long fight by Senator Byrd, Virginia Democrat. Similar legislation had narrowly failed of Senate passage in 1952, after, in Byrd's words, "it had been demonstrated that the agency's services were subject to abuse when it had nothing to do."

In debate on the most recent RFC bill, Senator Maybank (D., S. C.) and others declared that the agency had made net profits of more than $606 million for the government, of which more than $356 million had already been paid into the Treasury. Said Senator Byrd: "Before the senator from South Carolina arrives at the definite conclusion that the RFC has made the great profit of which he speaks, I think it would be better for him to wait until it is liquidated." The agency's latest reports put its overall net profit at $630 million.

The RFC already has put on the block almost $9.3 million of its holdings of state and municipal bonds. To be sold by next June 30: $700 million of loans and securities, $461 million of other holdings.

Flight From Communism

The whole free world is thrilled and cheered whenever a brave man succeeds in fleeing from Russian bondage, as Dr. Marek Korowicz did the other day at the United Nations. Another Pole, a member of the Polish armistice team in Korea, fled to Allied sanctuary two weeks ago.

A thousand East Berliners a day continued to flee to West Berlin to escape Communist slavery. Other nationalities in puppet states show a similar desire to flee the Red terror.

It is plain there would be a mass exodus from Russia and Russian-held territory except for the iron curtain and the iron fist. Nothing could point up more dramatically the fact that Poland and other Russian satellites in Europe are all part of a great prison camp despite Moscow's persistent pretense that they are free and independent nations.

How hollow that pretense is has been shown once again in Dr. Korowicz's case. The 50-year-old former professor of international law at Krakow University arrived in New York as an alternate member of the Polish Communist delegation to the United Nations. He had been carefully investigated before he was allowed to breathe the heady air of this free country; his every action and every public word must have been recorded in Red notebooks. But somehow the spy network slipped. Early in the morning Dr. Korowicz sneaked quietly out of his hotel room in Manhattan and asked asylum in the United States.

There is little doubt that his plea will be granted although this country must make a careful investigation too to be sure it is not taken in. But his flight, whatever its motives, is already a frightful embarrassment to the Polish Communist regime and to their masters in Moscow—not only here but in their homelands, to which the story is being relayed by Radio Free Europe.

Is it any wonder that the Russians are so reluctant to allow travel and contact between their own people and their captives and the free nations of the West? For even when the iron curtain is lifted a tiny chink, the iron bars of the prison are revealed and the free peoples get a glimpse of the nightmare life that Dr. Korowicz describes.

The Whooping Crane

It doesn't matter that the whooping crane—or what is left of that vanishing species—will wing over only a few states in his annual migration from Canada to Texas.

What does matter is the spirit that lies behind the campaign to save the last 20 or so of those great American birds from extinction. It happens to be centered in the Middle West, but no doubt it would be the same wherever civilized people—here or abroad—have any compassion for wildlife.

The National Audubon Society and the United States Fish and Wildlife Service have initiated a save-the-whooping crane drive that has won the cooperation of thousands of individuals, numerous local, state and federal agencies and scores of private organizations.

Along the flyway south over the prairie states, radio and television stations will broadcast descriptions of the birds with appeals to hunters and others not to molest them. Garden clubs, sportsmen's groups and Audubon Junior Clubs will spread the word.

Placing Them In Proper Perspective

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Story Of Beria's Escape Came From Nicaraguan Adventurer; Kefauver Probes Commerce Department Stall On Newsprint Issue

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story of how Marshal Lavrenti Beria, Ex-No. 2 man of Russia, popped up on the list of Joe McCarthy's potential witnesses.

Though the story hasn't panned out the way McCarthy hoped, real fact is that Joe had been saving this as the big piece de resistance of his whole spy-hunting, witch-hunting career.

Revelation that the former secret police chief of Russia had surrendered to McCarthy was to be a sensational climax which would rebuild the public confidence that fell off after Joe hired, then fired, J. B. Matthews, the Protestant Red-hunter.

The man who sold McCarthy on the Marshal Beria escape is a colorful and delightful soldier of fortune named Flavio Gallo, a Nicarguan who has been trying to dump the present regime in Nicaragua, and who also has some political axes to grind against the Arbenz Guzman regime in Guatemala.

Gallo operates in Mexico and on the West Coast and was the source of the report that a State Department official had been shaken down for $150,000 during the Truman administration.

Gallo has close contacts with Gene Fusion, a California newspaperman who first broke the story of the $150,000 bribe and also wrote the first report that Marshal Beria had escaped.

Known About Report

Last summer Gallo privately peddled the rumor that Beria had escaped from the Kremlin early in July and was hiding in Spain. According to Soviet announcements, Beria was arrested on June 26.

According to Gallo's story, he escaped a short time later and went to Spain.

Gallo conveyed this information to McCarthy in midsummer so the Wisconsin senator had known about the report for about two months.

Vice President Nixon substantially advanced knowledge of the matter when he said in New York last week that he had known of the alleged Beria escape for about a month.

Soldier of fortune Flavio Gallo shipped his Cadillac to Italy in August, then went himself to Italy and Spain for a rendezvous with the alleged Marshal Beria.

In hiding with Beria, according to the McCarthy-Gallo reports, are two other Russians, one a top atomic scientist and the other an expert on North and South America and China.

The decidedly skeptical State Department and Central Intelligence Agency seem to have seen two men, who have seen Marshal Beria and would know him if they saw him again, to Spain in order to interview the man who McCarthy's agent says is the ex-No. 2 ruler of Russia.

They can't conceive that he is Beria, but they want to leave no stone unturned to get the true facts.

$1-A-Year-Men

Soldier Kefauver of Tennessee, who's suspicious of the way the Commerce Department has pushed around American newspapers and the Cuban government regarding newsprint from Cuban sugar cane, is looking into the role of $1-a-year men inside the Commerce Department.

Last May the Cuban government took the good-neighbor policy seriously and wrote a letter to the State Department asking for the loan of Jesse Friedman, the Commerce Department's expert on making newsprint out of bagasse—sugar-cane waste. After two months' delay, the Commerce Department wrote back that Friedman couldn't be spared—though the Cubans offered to pay for his time and expenses, and though actually he was doing so little inside the Commerce Department that he's about to resign.

The Cuban government wrote back on August 3 wanting to know when Mr. Friedman could be spared—since he's the only government expert available on this subject. As this is written, another two months have passed and Cuba still hasn't received a reply.

Meanwhile it develops that a key official inside the Commerce Department, Leonard Pasek, who advises on newsprint matters, is loaned to the government by the Kimberly-Clark Co. of Wisconsin, manufacturers of paper from wood pulp. Pasek recently wrote a report on newsprint from saw grass which made the flat statement: "It is unlikely that any fibers produced by chemical processes alone will displace ground wood pulp as the principal fiber content of newsprint paper."

This statement is in flat contradiction to another Commerce Department report sent to the House Judiciary Committee which states that newsprint from bagasse—a chemical process—is practical and feasible.

Mr. Pasek's company manufactures paper from wood pulp. And Senator Kefauver wants to know what part any Commerce Department official on loan from a paper company may have played in blocking Cuba's request for advice in developing newsprint from a competing process.

The demagogic opportunists would not know. Theirs but to hold jobs and to ask not why.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

The Restive Farmers

WASHINGTON

Democratic strategists unanimously concede the continuing—and even perhaps increasing—personal popularity of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. But they are nevertheless remarkably hopeful already about the 1954 elections. When they discuss these elections, they like to linger lovingly on the six seconds of tepid applause accorded Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, when he made a major speech at a recent farm rally in Wisconsin.

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee sent out a scout to feel the farm pulse at this meeting—the national plowing contest at August, Wis. The scout timed the applause for Benson with a stop watch, and jubilantly reported that even during the short six seconds, hardly one farmer in ten bothered to clap. This frigid reception for Benson suggests the major reason why the Democrats believe that they can capture at least one House next year.

Month after month, farm income has been steadily falling. The Democrats claim that the result has been a sort of creeping disillusionment among farmers, not with the President himself, but with the administration he heads and the party he leads. They point to recent farm polls in Minnesota and elsewhere to support this claim.

And they claim further that even a rather minor shift in the farm vote next year will give them control of the House, and perhaps of the Senate.

Took Bad Licking

It is certainly true that there is only one way for the Democratic party to go in the farm areas, and that way is up. It is not generally realized how frightful was the licking the Democrats took in the farm districts last year, while they were holding their own reasonably well elsewhere.

Exclusive of Missouri, there is now just one lonely Democratic member of the House of Representatives from a heavily agricultural district, north of the Mason and Dixon Line. This is Rep. Fred Marshall of Minnesota, who beat crusty old Harold Knutson in 1948, and has held on since.

The Democrats need to gain only five seats to organize the House, and one to organize the Senate (assuming Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio finally makes up his mind to appoint a Democrat to the seat of the late Sen. Taft). President Eisenhower may still be popular a year from now, the Democrats point out, but he won't be heading any Republican's ticket. In view of the Eisenhower landslide, the Democrats claim that their representation outside the farm areas is their rock bottom strength.

Let farm prices and farm income drop a little more, and the farmers' disillusionment creep a little further, the Democrats reason, and the farmers will hand the Republicans the sort of unpleasant surprise they received in 1948, when the farm vote was generally credited with making possible Truman's victory. For their part the Republicans, while making light of Democratic claim of a brewing farm revolt, are admittedly worried.

Against Rigid Supports

The Republican farm program must be unveiled to the next session of Congress. Rep. Clifford Hope is presently touring the country on his own pulse-feeling expedition, and the administration is counting heavily on him to come up with some sort of politically acceptable answer to the ancient farm problem. Meanwhile Secretary Benson and his aides are also wrestling unhappily with a new farm program.

Benson had made no secret of the fact that he opposes "rigid" farm supports, like the present mandatory 90 per cent of parity. The farmers equally have made no secret of the fact that they bitterly oppose the Benson theory that farm supports should be flexible, and a form of disaster insurance.

Ideas for a two-price system, in which the farmers would receive one price and the consumers pay another, lower price, with the difference made up by the Treasury, has been floating around the Agriculture Department. These ideas smack of the New and Fair Deals, and even of the long-buried Brannon Plan. But if they are not to risk political disaster, the Republicans must find some device, however ideologically distasteful, for putting a solid floor under farm prices.

The Republican dilemma, in short, seems a painful one. The Democrats may, of course, be counting all sorts of unhatched chickens. The October 13 special election in the late Mervin Hull's heavily agricultural district in Wisconsin should provide a good test case. If Arthur Peterson, the undistinguished Democratic candidate, should by any chance win in this normally Republican district, the Democrats will begin counting chickens in earnest. Then the scramble for the 1956 Presidential nomination, even now prematurely but politely in progress, will start to shift into high gear.

H-Bomb And Business

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW BOSTON, N. H.—I am writing this near a large bombing range in southern New Hampshire.

Owing to the comparable ineffectiveness of the bombers which have been used in Korea the past two years, I was curious to get an answer to four questions.

What is the defense against ordinary bombing?

Naturally, the fighter-plane is the best defense against the bomber-plane. This means that speed and mobility determine the battle outcome. The result is that these air battles are constantly fought higher in the air. Because of this the bombers act with less accuracy, with an increasing cost and decreasing destructive power.

Cities appear to get accustomed to such bombings. The people resort to cellars and trenches, but do not evacuate their cities. Present bombing has become "one of those things" and no more decisive in battle than the machine gun or the bazooka. One reason why both China and the United States are willing to quit Korea is because of the ineffectiveness of ordinary bombing.

(2) What is the defense against atomic bombing?

The original atomic bomb, such as used in Hiroshima in 1945, has been greatly "improved" by increasing the destructive power and by reducing the size of the bomb and its accompanying mechanism. Such bombs can be dropped from airplanes, can be shot from guns or presumably used in guided missiles from submarines or in other ways. Radar is supposed to give cities warning against such bombing; but the time element is very short. The sad fact is that the destructive power of atomic bombing is terrific; and, thus far, almost no practical defense now exists against such.

There is also the "H," or hydrogen bomb, which is much more destructive. These could be dropped from large bombing planes or "planted" in a ship within a harbor, or hidden in the cellar of some enemy spy's house within any city. The first night of the war they might wipe out two or more of our large cities in surprise attacks—like what happened to us at Pearl Harbor. The only defense now appears to be radar and evacuation.

(3) What are the pros and cons of evacuation?

If evacuation is the only protection against atomic bombing, why don't we hear more about it? The reason is twofold. The first reason is the great expense of making arrangements in advance for the mass evacuation of a large city. This would require rebuilding of roads for exit, provision for underground bomb shelters, and the necessary temporary housing and feeding facilities, outside the cities.

About 20,000,000 people are now living in the 12 U. S. cities which our government has listed as most vulnerable.

The second reason is the opposition of real estate and other business interests to talk about evacuation. The chambers of commerce, the real estate boards, and the builders associations of these 12 cities will not discuss mass emergency evacuation.

Naturally, the fighter-plane is the best defense against the bomber-plane. This means that speed and mobility determine the battle outcome. The result is that these air battles are constantly fought higher in the air. Because of this the bombers act with less accuracy, with an increasing cost and decreasing destructive power.

Cities appear to get accustomed to such bombings. The people resort to cellars and trenches, but do not evacuate their cities. Present bombing has become "one of those things" and no more decisive in battle than the machine gun or the bazooka. One reason why both China and the United States are willing to quit Korea is because of the ineffectiveness of ordinary bombing.

(4) Is decentralization surely coming?

I cannot believe, as many do, that the big cities are already "dead ducks." I however, do believe that decentralization is to become an important industry. It offers great opportunities to real estate interests, builders and other businessmen. Farm land within 30 miles of large cities will double in value. This rural land will be used for new homes, new shopping centers, new factories and new office buildings.

One more thought: The present "businessman's" administration at Washington cannot afford a business depression now. Obssolescence puts a limit to the bombs and airplanes which may be made now to hold in reserve. As the expenditures for the above and other military supplies will be reduced, a great campaign for decentralization may be substituted in its place. This could give business another "shot-in-the-arm." Moreover, the country as a whole, especially the small cities, should permanently benefit from such expenditures.

There is little doubt that his plea will be granted although this country must make a careful investigation too to be sure it is not taken in. But his flight, whatever its motives, is already a frightful embarrassment to the Polish Communist regime and to their masters in Moscow—not only here but in their homelands, to which the story is being relayed by Radio Free Europe.

Is it any wonder that the Russians are so reluctant to allow travel and contact between their own people and their captives and the free nations of the West? For even when the iron curtain is lifted a tiny chink, the iron bars of the prison are revealed and the free peoples get a glimpse of the nightmare life that Dr. Korowicz describes.

The Whooping Crane

It doesn't matter that the whooping crane—or what is left of that vanishing species—will wing over only a few states in its annual migration from Canada to Texas.

What does matter is the spirit that lies behind the campaign to save the last 20 or so of those great American birds from extinction. It happens to be centered in the Middle West, but no doubt it would be the same wherever civilized people—here or abroad—have any compassion for wildlife.

The National Audubon Society and the United States Fish and Wildlife Service have initiated a save-the-whooping crane drive that has won the cooperation of thousands of individuals, numerous local, state and federal agencies and scores of private organizations.

Along the flyway south over the prairie states, radio and television stations will broadcast descriptions of the birds with appeals to hunters and others not to molest them. Garden clubs, sportsmen's groups and Audubon Junior Clubs will spread the word.

The Doctor's Valise

The contents of the doctor's little black bag may make the difference between life and death during an emergency. Epinephrine, for example, is a heart stimulant and, when needed to revive a dying person, the preparation must be available at once. One physician found himself in a predicament; he had used his supply earlier in the evening and was in desperate need of a stimulant for a neighbor who had called at 2 a.m. The drug store was closed and the hospital was located five miles away. A less potent substitute was found in the bag which supplied the spark the old ticker required to help its owner over this difficult time.

The basic items of the doctor's grip are somewhat the same whether he practices in the city or the country. Treatment of most emergencies is a standard procedure and when a heart attack strikes, there is no reason why a New Hampshire banker should receive care that differs from that of a Montana cowboy. The same can be said of the equipment carried: needles, syringes, thermometers, rubber gloves, tourniquets, and prescription blanks.

Beyond this, the physician has as much leeway as his wife does with her purse. Extra articles are numberless and depend upon what the medico considers essential in his particular practice. The country doctor may be compelled to have on hand a complete line of drugs for adults and children because there is no drug store in the immediate vicinity. Others carry nonemergency remedies to relieve specific kinds of distress varying from earache to bladder obstruction. Some go so far as to include material for a disaster such as the possibility of a communist attack with atomic weapons.

I have known physicians who transport a complete obstetrical setup in the back of the car because they deliver many babies in the home. On the other hand, equipment of this type is unnecessary for the man who does not do obstetrics or who delivers all of his pregnant patients in the hospital. What about an emergency delivery? This occurs once in a lifetime and when it does he is forced to improvise because no physician can be expected to tote a hospital around with him. Furthermore, the equipment might be obsolete or worn out long before there is occasion to use it.

Few physicians, even specialists, could practice without certain drugs for emergency care. The list, according to Dr. Edwin Matlin, includes sedatives, hypnotics, morphine, codeine, and aspirin. There is no substitute for morphine for severe pain, but codeine is useful in relieving less intense pain and cough. Aspirin and its derivatives come in handy when discomfort is of muscular or arthritic origin. Stimulants also are essential as well as one of the many drugs available to help the heart, such as digitalis when the old pump begins to fail, and nitroglycerine in angina pectoris. Quinine, procaine, and aminophylline are valuable in other heart conditions. Remedies for asthma also are vital because the attack occurs so frequently at night. An antibiotic such as penicillin is effective in a variety of infections.

NO SMOKING

T. B. writes: After a coronary attack how many cigarettes a day can a man smoke?

REPLY

None. There are many facets of smoking we do not understand but we know that it affects the blood vessels. In my opinion, anyone who has a bad coronary thrombosis is taking a chance should he continue to smoke.

THYROID PRESSURE

Mrs. T. writes: Could an overactive thyroid produce a dry hacking cough?

REPLY

This is possible, especially if hacking is on nervous basis. A more likely cause, however, is pressure on the windpipe from a thyroid that is enlarged but not necessarily overactive.

SELF-HELP

M. S. writes: Is there any medicine a person can buy in the drug store without a prescription for a spastic colon?

REPLY

It's been said that a person who does his own doctoring has a fool for a patient. But, between you and me, a bland diet and freedom from worry will help more than all the medicines on your druggist's shelf.

TRY A MONOCLE

F. R. writes: Recently I was fitted with glasses with blue plastic frames and after wearing them for a few days the skin behind my ears broke out into a rash. I suppose I'm allergic to the frames because I also have other allergies: hay fever, asthma, and eczema. What can I do?

REPLY

You have a perfect excuse for using a monocle or a lorgnette. Alternatives would be the piezoelectric or metal frames. Apparently you are sensitive to some ingredient in the plastic frames.

Story Of Beria's Escape Came From Nicaraguan Adventurer; Kefauver Probes Commerce Department Stall On Newsprint Issue

WASHINGTON —

July and was hiding in Spain. According to Soviet announcements, and who also has some political axes to grind against the Arbenz Guzman regime in Guatemala.

Gallo operates in Mexico and on the West Coast and was the source of the report that a State Department official had been shaken down for $150,000 during the Truman administration. Gallo had close contacts with Gene Fusion, a California newspaperman who first broke the story of the $150,000 bribe and also wrote the first report that Marshal Beria had escaped.

Knew About Report

Last summer Gallo privately peddled the rumor that Beria had escaped from the Kremlin early in July and was hiding in Spain. According to Soviet announcements, and who also has some political axes to grind against the Arbenz Guzman regime in Guatemala.

Gallo conveyed this information to McCarthy in midsummer so the Wisconsin senator had known about the report for about two months.

Vice President Nixon substantially advanced knowledge of the matter when he said in New York last week that he had known of the alleged Beria escape for about a month.

Soldier of fortune Flavio Gallo shipped his Cadillac to Italy in August, then went himself to Italy and Spain for a rendezvous with the alleged Marshal Beria.

In hiding with Beria, according to the McCarthy-Gallo reports, are two other Russians, one a top atomic scientist and the other an expert on North and South America and China.

The decidedly skeptical State Department and Central Intelligence Agency have sent two men, who have seen Marshal Beria and would know him if they saw him again, to Spain in order to interview the man who McCarthy's agent says is the ex-No. 2 ruler of Russia. They can't conceive that he is Beria, but they want to leave no stone unturned to get the true facts.

$1-A-Year-Men

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, who's suspicious of the way the Commerce Department has pushed around American newspapers and the Cuban government regarding newsprint from Cuban sugar cane, is looking into the role of $1-a-year men inside the Commerce Department.

Last May the Cuban government took the good-neighbor policy seriously and wrote a letter to the State Department asking for the loan of Jesse Friedman, the Commerce Department's expert on making newsprint out of bagasse—sugar-cane waste. After two months' delay, the Commerce Department wrote back that Friedman couldn't be spared—though the Cubans offered to pay for his time and expenses, and though actually he was doing so little inside the Commerce Department that he's about to resign.

The Cuban government wrote back on August 3 wanting to know when Mr. Friedman could be spared—since he's the only government expert available on this subject. As this is written, another two months have passed and Cuba still hasn't received a reply.

Meanwhile it develops that a key official inside the Commerce Department, Leonard Pasek, who advises on newsprint matters, is loaned to the government by the Kimberly-Clark Co. of Wisconsin, manufacturers of paper from wood pulp. Pasek recently wrote a report on newsprint from saw grain which made the flat statement: "It is unlikely that any fibres produced by chemical processes alone will displace ground wood pulp as the principal fibre content of newsprint paper."

This statement is in flat contradiction to another Commerce Department report sent to the House Judiciary Committee which states that newsprint from bagasse—a chemical process—is practical and feasible.

Mr. Pasek's company manufactures paper from wood pulp. And Senator Kefauver wants to know what part any Commerce Department official on loan from a paper company may have played in blocking Cuba's request for advice in developing newsprint from a competing process.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

The Restive Farmers

WASHINGTON

Democratic strategists unanimously concede the continuing—and even perhaps increasing—personal popularity of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. But they are nevertheless remarkably hopeful already about the 1954 elections. When they discuss these elections, they like to linger lovingly on the six seconds of tepid applause given to Benson in 1948, when the farm vote was generally credited with making possible Truman's victory. For their part the Republicans, while making light of Democratic claim of a brewing farm revolt, are admittedly worried.

Against Rigid Supports

The Republican farm program must be unveiled to the next session of Congress. Rep. Clifford Hope is presently touring the country on his own pulse-feeling expedition, and the administration is counting heavily on him to come up with some sort of politically acceptable answer to the ancient farm problem. Meanwhile Secretary Benson and his aides are also wrestling unhappily with a new farm program.

Benson had made no secret of the fact that he opposes "rigid" farm supports, like the present mandatory 90 per cent of parity. The farmers equally have made no secret of the fact that they bitterly oppose the Benson theory that farm supports should be flexible, and a form of disaster insurance.

Ideas for a two-price system, in which the farmers would receive one price and the consumers pay another, lower price, with the difference made up by the Treasury, has been floating around the Agriculture Department. These ideas smack of the New and Fair Deals, and even of the long-burdened Brannan Plan. But if they are not to risk political disaster, the Republicans must find some device, however ideologically distasteful, for putting a solid floor under farm prices.

The Republican dilemma, in short, seems a painful one. The Democrats may, of course, be counting all sorts of uncharted chickens. The October 13 special election in the late Mervin Hull's heavily agricultural district in Wisconsin should provide a good test case. If Arthur Peterson, the undistinguished Democratic candidate, should by any chance win in this normally Republican district, the Democrats will begin counting chickens in earnest. Then the scramble for the 1956 Presidential nomination, even now prematurely in progress, will start to shift into high gear.

H-Bomb And Business

By ROGER W. BABSON

About 20,000,000 people are now living in the 12 U. S. cities which our government has listed as most vulnerable.

The second reason is the opposition of real estate and other business interests to talk about evacuation. The chambers of commerce, the real estate boards, and the builders associations of these 12 cities will not discuss mass emergency evacuation.

Naturally, the fighter-plane is the best defense against the bomber-plane. This means that speed and mobility determine the battle outcome. The result is that these air battles are being constantly fought higher in the air. Because of this the bombers act with less accuracy, with an increasing cost and decreasing destructive power.

Cities appear to get accustomed to such bombings. The people resort to cellars and trenches, but do not evacuate their cities. Present bombing has become "one of those things" and no more decisive in battle than the machine gun or the bazooka. One reason why both China and the United States are willing to quit Korea is because of the ineffectiveness of ordinary bombing.

(4) Is decentralization surely coming?

I cannot believe, as many do, that the big cities are already "dead ducks." I however, do believe that decentralization is to become an important industry. It offers great opportunities to real estate interests, builders and other businessmen. Farm land within 30 miles of large cities will double in value. This rural land will be used for new homes, new shopping centers, new factories and new office buildings.

One more thought: The present "businessman's" administration at Washington cannot afford business depression now. Obsolescence puts a limit to the bombs and airplanes which may be made now to hold in reserve. As the expenditures for the above and other military supplies will be reduced, a great campaign for decentralization may be substituted in its place. This could give business another "shot-in-the-arm." Moreover, the country as a whole, especially the small cities, should permanently benefit from such expenditures.

There is also the "H," or hydrogen bomb, which

Hardy Countians Greet Returned War Prisoner

Sgt. Reel Is Back In Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — An estimated 800 to 1000 persons gathered here Friday evening to welcome Hardy County's returned prisoner of war, Sergeant Leon Reel, who had been a prisoner for 33 months and 21 days after having been reported missing in action in Korea November 2, 1950.

Sgt. Reel was expected home earlier but he visited his brother, Pvt. Harry Reel, in Alaska before returning to West Virginia.

The official reception was held on the steps of the South Branch Valley National Bank. A parade formed at the Moorefield High School and marched down Main Street to the bank where Senator R. J. Bean, Mayor P. W. Clarke and Rev. Milton Austin waited. The parade was composed of a color guard from the American Legion, units from the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company, the Moorefield High School Band, cars with Sergeant Reel and two friends who were also released by the North Koreans, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reel, parents of the sergeant, and Miss Doloris Reel, his sister; and the Sanders Drum and Bugle Corps.

Rev. Austin gave an invocation after the Moorefield Band played an arrangement of "The West Virginia Hills." Mayor Clarke made an address of welcome and appreciation and Senator Bean presented gifts to Sergeant Reel and Sergeant Leon Warble and Sergeant Richard Derrol, both of Harrisonburg, Va. Mrs. Harry Reel was given a bouquet of flowers.

Forest Festival Princesses Named

Among the princesses who will reign during the annual Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins on Thursday, Friday and Saturday are six area girls.

They are Miss Kay Long, of Romney; Nancy Ann Chrislip, of Grafton; Phyllis Lou Kline, of Martinsburg; Betty Ann Carr, of Petersburg; Shirley Ann Baker, of Morgantown, and Edna Mae McBee, of Phillipi.

A reception for the queen, Miss Nancy Ann Gocke, of Clarksburg, and the princesses will be held Thursday afternoon. Gov. William C. Marland of West Virginia will attend the festival.

The big parade of the festival will be held Friday at 2 p. m. (EST). A large number of social events and exhibitions and contests are scheduled for the three-day event.

Davis Will Exhibit His Art In Romney

An exhibition of paintings by Fenton Davis, native of Frostburg, will open next Friday at the New Century Hotel, Romney, W. Va., under the sponsorship of the Fine Arts Department of the Romney Women's Club.

Davis, who returned early in the summer from Paris, France, has opened a studio on Cathedral Street, Baltimore. The Romney exhibition is the first and only scheduled display of the oils and water colors done by the local artist since he went to France two years ago after closing his Design House in Frostburg.

The show will include 22 items, 17 of them oils and one of them an area subject: "Pink Barn at Swanton." Hours are from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 2, 3 and 4. The exhibition is free but a silver offering will be accepted of help defray expenses, and tea will be served.

All of the mountains on the moon have been named after mountains on the earth.

DELEGATES ELECT PMA COMMITTEE — These eight Allegany County farmers elected the County Production and Marketing Administration Committee which will serve the county in the coming year. They are, left to right, front row, L. J. Stegmaier, Baltimore Pike; Harry H. Delbrook, Mt. Savage; J. C. Smith, Little Orleans; Ora Thompson, Flintstone, and H. C. Dawson, Rawlings. Second row, same order, are R. M. Valentine, Oldtown Road; Edgar Mathews, Oldtown, and Howard D. Llewellyn, Midland. They re-elected Albert O'Neal chairman and James H. Weimer vice-chairman. For new regular member of the committee they selected Joseph W. Silber. As alternates they selected two of their own number, Stegmaier and Valentine.

Elk Garden Boy, Polio Victim, Is Hospitalized

Mineral County's Second Case Treated

KEYSER—Three-year old Allen Wayne Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Harvey of Elk Garden is Mineral County's second poliomyelitis case this year.

Stricken about a week ago, the child was brought to Potomac Valley Hospital here where the disease tentatively was diagnosed as infantile paralysis.

The boy was then removed to Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown, where he is now a patient. The diagnosis there was positive. Doctors were expecting some paralysis to result although a full report has not yet been submitted.

Because the child had difficulty in swallowing, the new resuscitator purchased by the Mineral County chapter to combat polio was used during the trip in the Keyser Fire Department ambulance to Morgantown.

The county's first case this year was Mary Ann Rigglierman, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Davis, Thunder Hill section. She also is a patient in the Monongalia General Hospital.

Tucker County Children Participate In Parade

PARSONS, W. Va. — Over 1,000 Tucker County school children participated in the third annual school day parade held here Friday in connection with the 37th Tucker County Fair.

In three groups $25 first prizes, $15 second prizes and $10 third prizes were offered. First prizes were contributed by Barracks Ford Sales, Minear Motors and Lambert Chevrolet garages, all of Parsons. The Tucker County Fair Association.

First place in the one-room school group was won by Douglas School, taught by Miss Lily Schilanksy, the second prize by Bretz School, taught by Mrs. Lester Miller, and third prize, Porterwood School, taught by Van Willson.

In the larger graded school group, first place went to Parsons Graded School of which H. Dale Ridgeway is principal, second place won by Hamrick Consolidated School with Earl Corcoran, principal, and the third place by Thomas School of which Felix Colabrese is principal.

In the high school group, Parsons High School took first place, M. M. Freeman, principal; second place was won by Davis High School, Ira McDowell principal, and third place to Thomas High School, Felix Colabrese principal.

Between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m., a session will be held in the Keyser Fire hall, and at 7 p. m. dinner will be served to the full group in the Davis Hall dining room on Potomac State College campus.

The eastern group of the Bankers Association is composed of officers, directors and employees of the banks. J. Lee Temple, cashier of the National Bank of Keyser, is president of the group and chairman of the activities of the local program.

There will be a number of out-of-town guests including some from Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

The main speaker will be Joel B. Guin, noted world traveller, lecturer and educator. His subject to be discussed at the meeting here, will be "America Unlimited."

Other officers, in addition to Temple, of the group, are Eugene Ailes, Romney, secretary, and Edgar Trout, of the Citizens National Bank, Martinsburg, vice-president.

Junior Catholic Daughters Councilors are Mrs. Leona Reagan; Mrs. Sarah Carter, Mrs. Catherine Mulligan and Miss Frances Campbell. Two trustees were appointed to each of the property, auditing, and purchasing respectively. They are Mrs. Alberta Geary, Mrs. Stella Jeffries, property; Mrs. Mary Hughes and Mrs. Leona Reagan, purchasing; and Mrs. Anastacia McGann and Mrs. Alma Brainer, auditing.

A birthday party for members with September birthdays followed the business meeting and the next scheduled meeting will be Wednesday October 14.

'MISCELLANEOUS' SHOWER FOR JOE

EXCEPTING the third Atlantic-Athletic star title game (for the championship of the United States) in 1860, the only other contest of comparable rowdiness was the Tiger-Cardinal game at Detroit in the 1934 world series.

On this occasion, Outfielder Joe Medwick of the Cards was the unhappy recipient of a shower of miscellaneous objects, such as vegetables, fruits and pop-bottles thrown at him by Tiger devotees in the near-by bleachers.

Joe had just returned to his position, upon retirement of his side, when the sky-darkening barrage started, having been invited by the claim that he had tried to spike Detroit Third Sacker Marvin Owen.

While Joe was skipping about in an effort to dodge the flying missiles, (and successfully so) High Commissioner K. M. Landis had him wig-wagged to his box. Fearing that if Medwick returned to his post, the assault would be renewed, with probable injury to the player, Landis ordered him out of the game.

DURING the season of 1900, fans at Hamilton, Ohio, carried the grandstand away, piecemeal, by carving the wooden structure, and by the time the season closed, only part of the frame remained.

RECHICHAR matched that touch-down midway in the second period and then put the Colts in front with his dramatic record-breaking boot on the last play of the half.

McPhail earlier had missed a field goal try from the 45, and the fans were puzzled when Rechichar lined up to try from 10 yards farther back since his ability to kick had been unknown. But the ball sailed through the uprights to beat by two yards the former national league record set by Glenn Presnell of Detroit against Greenbay on Oct. 7, 1934.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

The first disciplinary move against Rita Hayworth is obvious in the announcement by Jerry Wald that Olivia de Havilland will star in "The Human Beast," the famous Emile Zola story.

The Zola story had been planned for months for Rita, who is on suspension while honeymooning with Dick Haymes in the East.

Fritz Lang, the director, and Lewis Rachmil, the producer, are already in Jasper and Edmonton, Canada, making location arrangements.

Olivia, who confirmed the deal with her agent, Kurt Frings, by telephone, is in New York seeing her French fiance, Pierre Galant, off for Europe. She returns next week to be ready to leave for Canada on October 27. She will make one more picture in addition to "The Human Beast" before she joins Galant in Europe.

A beaming Shelley Winters, and as usually beaming Vittorio Gassman (which is a switch, he's usually on the nonchalant side) were at the "preem" of "The Robe" — Vittorio planning in from Rome just in time to get into his dinner clothes and take Shell to the show.

Shelley is certainly under a lucky star — for a change. Her career has never been brighter. After finishing MGM's "Executive Suite" and her Flamingo night club stint, she'll debut in TV in "Man Trap" for the Ford Theatre of television.

Ginger Rogers telephoned to explain why she and her handsome husband, Jacques Bergerac left the table at the Lew Schreiber party at Romanoff's in such a hurry.

Said Ginger, "Jacques had been riding all day testing for a Western independent picture. After seven hours in the saddle, he was so sore he could hardly sit. 'The Robe' was a long picture and he was really suffering. Everything will be all right if he gets the job. It will be nice to have a French cowboy in the family!"

Ginger said she is happier than she has ever been in her life.

Shirley Booth will walk right out of "About Mrs. Leslie" and right into her Broadway stage musical "By The Beautiful Sea."

Shirley arrives in Hollywood next week for wardrobe fittings and for conferences with Hal Wallis, who puts "Mrs. Leslie" into work next month.

"By The Beautiful Sea" will have Chuck Walters, who has obtained a leave of absence from MGM, as

The top-heavy figure must exercise restraint in wearing current silhouettes. Here are the cues!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Looking over the fashion scene, it would seem at first glance that the full-bosomed, slim-hipped woman has nary a problem. All twenty-five of the leading Parisian couturiers and the major designers of this country definitely agree that the rounded, provocative bosom line is the distinctive factor of every current silhouette.

Naturally, the slimmer the hip line, the easier it is to accent the bosom.

But if your figure matches this silhouette so well that you take on a top-heavy look, chic will not be yours. When any line is overstated, smartness is lost. For beauty and loveliness, it is essential to be subtle rather than obvious in the effect you attain.

Subtle Interpretation

To avoid a too-exaggerated interpretation of the style, here are the factors to keep in mind while assembling any costume for the top-heavy figure:

In selecting a suit, choose a longer-jacketed style. Any costume that breaks your figure at the waist or near-waist will emphasize the natural disproportion of your figure.

Be sure that all of your jewelry is medium in size and avoid clips, lapel pins, brooches, necklaces or earrings that are too prominent because they will merely add to the top-heavy look.

Be sure that your feet are shod most attractively and that your stockings contribute to the beauty of your feet and legs. Anything that adds interest to the "stem" part of your figure vies for the attention of your beholder's eye.

Looking over the fashion scene, it would seem at first glance that materials, and mat-finished materials for the top contrasted with the full-bosomed, slim-hipped woman has nary a problem. All shiny, heavier materials for the skirt. Whenever possible, wear darker-colored blouses with lighter-colored skirts.

Let all of your skirts be as long and as full as fashion allows, with a substantial rather than a shallow hemline.

Avoid purses that are extreme in any way. The medium-sized, conservative shapes are for you. Never choose large-brimmed hats or those that are small and silly. High crowns, medium-sized brims of irregular shape will balance your figure most attractively.

Proportioned Choice

Be sure that all of your jewelry is medium in size and avoid clips, lapel pins, brooches, necklaces or earrings that are too prominent because they will merely add to the top-heavy look.

Be sure that your feet are shod most attractively and that your stockings contribute to the beauty of your feet and legs. Anything that breaks your figure at the waist or near-waist will emphasize the natural disproportion of your figure.

One by one all the Hollywood big names are getting into the act—Ray Milland, Loretta Young and Joan Crawford, being the latest to succumb. Succumb, I'm afraid is the right word, too. The sort of material some of these people surround themselves with is strictly from the bottom of the deck under the theory, I suppose, that nothing on television has been very good.

The Milland series in particular is an unqualified disaster. Milland, a very good actor indeed, has stumbled into a comedy format in which he plays the role of an absent-minded profes-

Radio And Television*by John Crosby*Triumph Of Silliness

One by one all the Hollywood big names are getting into the act—Ray Milland, Loretta Young and Joan Crawford, being the latest to succumb. Succumb, I'm afraid is the right word.

The sort of material some of these people surround themselves with is strictly from the bottom of the deck under the theory, I suppose, that nothing on television has to be very good.

The Milland series in particular is an unqualified disaster. Milland, a very good actor indeed, has stumbled into a comedy format in which he plays the role of an absent-minded profes-

What you can see on Cable TV each week:

- 4 programs of Fights
- 3 programs of Wrestling
- 3 Baseball Games
- 3 Football Games

All other leading sports as they happen, together with all the other greatly improved fall and winter programs.

You and your family will never be satisfied unless you have the best, so go Cable TV, or your neighbors and friends are doing.

Sobeloff Urges Change In Magistrate System

Says Present Plan A Haphazard One

Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the Maryland Court of Appeals has called for a centralized system of fulltime magistrates provided with psychiatric, probation and social services.

In a speech yesterday before the Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland, Sobeloff called the present setup "not a system but a chaos."

"The existing condition in Maryland in respect to the jurisdiction of the magistrates' courts is without plan, or order, or discipline."

Haphazard Method

"Justice cannot be successfully achieved by haphazard methods, with limited and obsolete facilities, without organization, without integration into the whole judicial system and with supervised administration," the judge said.

He asked "How can anyone expect a magistrate, unaided by modern methods and special means, to deal wisely with the alcoholics, the psychopaths, the homosexuals and the narcotic addicts?"

Judge Sobeloff criticized the practice, especially in Baltimore where lawyers serve as part-time magistrates.

"No man," he said, "should be expected to sit on the bench in the morning, to decide a case argued before him by a lawyer who will be the judge that afternoon before whom the now presiding judge will have to appear as counsel."

One Man Disagrees

At least one magistrate attending the meeting took Sobeloff's speech as criticism of rulings or actions of present sitting magistrates.

Magistrate Adolph Rosner delivered a long, extemporaneous talk on the merits of "magistrates appointed by His Excellency, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin." And he added: "I have yet to find any fault with any, I find we have as fine a body of men as anywhere."

District foresters also may authorize other qualified persons to issue campfire permits.

It also is illegal to "throw any lighted matches, cigars, cigarettes, firecrackers or any other lighted material on any forest land, private road, public highway or railroad right-of-way."

Church Observes 75th Anniversary In Westernport

Episcopalians Hear Archdeacon's Sermon

Dr. Albert M. Lucas of Baltimore, archdeacon of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland, preached an appropriate sermon yesterday morning at St. James Episcopal Church in Westernport as the parish observed its 75th anniversary.

Before his address, Dr. Lucas read letters to the congregation from Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, bishop of the Diocese of Maryland; and from two former rectors, Rev. George C. Davison and Rev. Randall Baker who served the Westernport church from February until the first of September.

Archdeacon Lucas' sermon was a charge pointing out the responsibilities of the various departments of the church. He was introduced by Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of George's Episcopal Church in Mt. Savage, who previously served St. James four and one-half years.

Following the Holy Communion service, at which Rev. Schwind was celebrant, the women of the church served luncheon in the parish hall. During the luncheon Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., a vestryman and member of the House of Delegates, read a history of the 75 years of St. James parish activity.

St. James Church was built in 1878 during the episcopate of Rt. Rev. William Pinkney, fifth bishop of Maryland. Prior to that time the congregation met and worshipped in private homes, among them having been the Brady residence near George's Creek. Occasional services were conducted by visiting clergymen from Cumberland, Oakland, and Lonaconing.

The church was built on land given by James and Esther Morrison. Whitworth noted that there was no regular minister at the time the church was built and the congregation today also is seeking a rector. First regular rector was Rev. F. Humphrey.

Rev. Schwind acted as toastmaster at the luncheon. The oldest male member of the church attending the luncheon was Charles Kuhne, who recalled that he was carried to St. James Church 75 years ago. Mrs. Annie Dick of Luke was the oldest woman member present.

The Weather

Mercury climbed into the high 80's yesterday aided by clear sunny skies and warm breezes. Area parks even reported a few picnics, and highways were crowded with Sunday motorists enjoying the mild weather. Maximum yesterday was 86 according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 58 and at 7 p.m., thermometers leveled at 73 degrees. Humidity at 6 p.m. was 43 per cent. Forecast for today is generally fair with high between 72 and 78.

Man Killed, Two Injured When Auto Overturns

Wayne Deffenbaugh Dies Near Midlothian

A Zihlman man was killed and two other men injured last night in an auto accident along the Midlothian Road near the city limits of Frostburg.

State Police identified the dead man as Wayne Deffenbaugh, about 24, who was reported to have died of head injuries. Treated at Miners Hospital in Frostburg were Glenn Dudley, 37, and Robert Lee Grimes, 22, also of Zihlman.

The accident occurred at 9:30 p.m. on a curve opposite the Brady farm along the Midlothian Road near Frostburg. Police said the car, driven by Deffenbaugh, was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed toward Midlothian and failed to negotiate a curve.

The auto left the highway, turned over several times as it plunged down an embankment into a nearby field. The car came to rest on its top about 30 feet from the roadway, police said.

All three of the men remained in the car and had to be dragged from the wreckage. Deffenbaugh is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Deffenbaugh, of Zihlman. The body was taken to the Durst Funeral Home.

Tfc. Donald Wade is investigating the mishap. Maryland State Police were notified of the accident by radio from Frostburg Police.

Deffenbaugh, who was discharged from the U. S. Army about nine months ago, had served in the Azores. He was employed by an uncle, Art Blank, in a general store at Zihlman.

He is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Lois Shumake, Zihlman, Mrs. Geraldine Braller, Johnstown, Pa.; Miss Carol Deffenbaugh, at home and two brothers, Robert Deffenbaugh, at home, and Durward Deffenbaugh Jr., Fairmont, W. Va.

8 Dealers Bid To Fill County School Coal Bins

Eight coal dealers have submitted new bids to supply coal to Allegany County public schools but they vary only slightly from proposals first submitted September 4.

The bidders are Ray Athey, this city; G. K. McLaughlin, Flintstone; Andrew B. Shaw, Lonaconing; Consolidated Fuel Sales Company, Frostburg; George Creek Coal Company, this city; William Turnbull, Lonaconing; Mineral Coal Company, McMullen Highway, and Harry Hopkins, Westernport.

When they first submitted bids ranging from $6.40 to $9.44 per ton, the Board of Education accepted the offer of Consolidated to supply stoker coal for Beall High School, Beall Elementary School, Fort Hill High School, Mt. Savage High School, Valley High School and school employees hauling the coal to the respective schools.

Other bids were rejected because the notice asked only for Big Vein coal. When they were received last Friday, the bids were supposed to have been on Big Vein coal or others that match it on analysis. Some strip mined coal was offered by the dealers in the latest bidding.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance, probably will submit recommendations to the Board of Education when it meets next October 13.

LaVale Pigeon Wins Ohio Race

Red Demon, Jr., from the MacArthur Lofts of C. A. Smith and J. J. McAtee, LaVale, won the fourth young bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club, a 175-mile flight from Athens, Ohio, to Cumberland.

Some 89 pigeons from 10 lofts were liberated in clear weather at Athens at 7 a.m. Sunday. The winning bird homed at 11:15 a.m., making his flying time four hours and 15 minutes.

The winning pigeon's time was 1222.37 yards per minute, compared to 1221.25 for Miss High, another MacArthur Loft bird, who finished second.

Others among the top five were Rigby, from the Excelsior Loft of M. M. Green, North Mechanic Street, 1184.62 yards per minute; Buttons, from Lucky's Loft of J. Luckiewicz, LaVale, 1178.11 yards per minute; and Miss Lulu from the Lost Loft of Dudley Shafer, North Mechanic Street, 1175.88 yards per minute.

Placing right behind them were Shoes, from the Excelsior Loft; Blue Boy, from Lost Loft; Ringer, from Clear View Loft of George F. Martens, Frostburg; Flash of Fire and Red Ball, both from the Pear Alley Loft of Joseph Swetzer.

William V. Keegan, grand knight, last night announced an interesting schedule of movies for the evening. "Trees to Tribunes," a color film on the lumber, wood pulp and newsprint industry will be shown as well as the college foot ball highlights of 1952 and the Philadelphia Eagles football high lights of last year.

K Of C Will Resume Smokers Tomorrow

The Fall "smokers" for members and friends of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will resume tomorrow at 9 p.m. and continue on the last Tuesday of each month during the Fall and Winter months.

YMCA Helps Our Youth

Here a group of Cumberland area teen-agers get together at one of the weekly Friday night Rec Club dances sponsored by Central Young Men's Christian Association as part of its youth-building program for a better community. The Rec Club is the city's oldest teen-age activity and more than 18,291 boys and girls of high school ages used the local "Y" facilities during the past year in club activities. This is just one of the many programs helped through the Community Chest of which the YMCA is an agency.

Community Chest Supported YMCA Is Youth, Character Building Force

A youth and character building institution in Cumberland for 79 years, the Central YMCA is one of the eight Red Feather agencies interested in sports.

The aquatic activities include "learn-to-swim" campaign, advanced swimming classes, "splash parties" for its members and community swimming meets. The American Red Cross uses the pool for Water Safety and Life Saving programs.

A craft program is set up in the Y including wood carving, block printing, soap carving and other small shop crafts and plans are underway to join the National Council of YMCAs to make a club activity available to boys and girls who have graduated from high school.

Truly, one of the busiest spots in the city, the YMCA is a beehive of activity each week-night in its club rooms, dining facilities, gymnasium, swimming pool and meeting rooms.

154 Groups Use "Y"

More than 154 different community groups and organizations have scheduled regular sessions within the walls of the central structure, and last year attendance at these meetings was over 23,500 persons.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Y serves thousands of meals yearly in the dining rooms, and many of the city's service clubs hold their luncheon meetings in the confines of the spacious building.

Cumberland's oldest teen-age activity, the Rec Club, was organized in 1943 and uses the YMCA for its programs, dances and weekly meetings. More than 18,291 teenagers used the Y's facilities in the past year in Rec Club activities.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at First Church of the Nazarene by the pastor, Rev. H. E. Heckert. The sermon digest is being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

According as He hath chosen us in Him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love. Ephesians 1:4.

God's Eternal Purpose

By REV. H. E. HECKERT

God is eternal. His genealogy is found complete in the first four words of the inspired book, "In the beginning God."

He is "without length of life or beginning of days."

Even as God is eternal so He is immutable or unchanging.

He and His Son are "the same yesterday, today, and forever."

This means that from the beginning there has been no variation in the character of God and no deviation in His purpose. His purpose for man from before the foundation of the world has been fixed.

God's election for the destiny of man is heaven, for his character, holiness. For the holy there can be only one end; that is heaven.

For the entrance to heaven there can be only one qualification; that is holiness.

God's standard for man is positively expressed in the text in the words "that we should be holy." This means that it is God's will that we should be sanctified wholly. That we should be renewed in knowledge after the image of Him that created us, that we should be made partakers of the divine nature through the exceeding great and precious promises of God, that we should stand perfect and complete in all the will of God. In short, that we should be restored to the original state and standing before God, from which Adam by transgression fell, have our fruit unto holiness and the end everlasting life.

God's standard for us is negatively expressed by the word, "without blame before Him." This does not mean that my life will be without fault in the sight of men but without blame before God. It does not imply that my knowledge is perfect, but it does mean that my obedience to the light I have is perfect. It means that my conduct springs from pure motives.

The tree has been made good by the grace of God and therefore the fruit is good. The foundation has been made pure and the waters sent forth are sweet. I live as in God's sight and while He chastens and reproves He does not condemn if I obey the added light He gives.

The holy character according to our text is attained and maintained in love. It is mutual love. He loved us and gave Himself for us. We love Him because He first loved us. Love alone is the bond by which our wills can be united irrevocably to His will. Love and love alone is the inspiration that we are living in an age of peril, which is perfect in God's law. That love is perfect in us by the Spirit of God but it is capable of increase until it is supreme and absolute.

This mutual love results in mutual possession. In love to Him I make my life completely His and He makes His life fully mine. In this union there is strength and security and "joy that is unspeakable and full of glory."

In a very real spiritual sense there results a mutual indwelling: I in Him and He in me.

Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, stresses the fact that "nothing we hear or read about strikes us with so shocking a sense of tragedy as the accidental death of a small child. We feel sorrow and sympathy for the parents in their loss. We also feel a sense of guilt because we failed to protect a child from the hazards of his environment."

The colonel continued, "seventeen children were killed and 1,065 injured by motor vehicles in Maryland last year, because of carelessness and indifference to safe driving habits. During the first six months of 1953, the State Police arrested 170 operators and warned 168 more for passing school buses that were discharging children."

Col. Munshower said, "there is no excuse for such wanton disregard of the law. When school buses stop on the highway — YOU MUST — STOP. The State Police are doing their utmost to arrest these wilful violators. Remember — the child's life you protect is the most precious possession on earth to some family."

Bowman Given Amcelle Award

Roland H. Bowman, Cresaptown, was presented a gold pocket watch recently at Amcelle by R. F. Thompson, plant manager. The watch was engraved on the back as follows: "In recognition of a quarter century of loyal service — CELANESE CORPORATION OF AMERICA—1953." Bowman's name was also inscribed upon the watch.

Bowman is a production examiner in the Spinning Department. His job helps assure high quality yarn. Within his department, this 25th employment anniversary was honored by John Bestwick of Spinning who awarded Bowman a gold 5-star Celanese emblem and certificate.

When not working at Amcelle, he assists in the operation of a farm which he owns near Lost River, W. Va.

He is married and the father of one daughter who is presently attending Catherman's Business School. Bowman is a member of Aerie No. 2883, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Cresaptown.

Bowling Green Church Marks Anniversary

The fifth anniversary of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church at Bowling Green was marked yesterday morning with special recognition given to the charter members, the oldest and youngest members and the largest family present.

Rev. C. Lloyd Voi, pastor, last night said the congregation was officially organized on September 26, 1948, with a charter membership of 82. Since then the membership has increased to 200. For the first two years the congregation worshipped in the Bowling Green Fire Hall. In December of 1950 the congregation moved into the new church building on Bowling Avenue.

Chartered In April, 1874

Chartered April 20, 1874, the "Y" was first located on South Liberty Street opposite the Strand Theatre. Later it moved to the Kennewick Building and finally, with the purchase of the old Mertens property on Baltimore Avenue, the cornerstone of the present building was laid April 7, 1925.

Offering a wide range of activities for youth in every age group, the local YMCA has a four-point club program which consists of "Y" Indian guides, a club for boys 7 to 9 stressing comradeship with their fathers; the Gra-Y club for grade school boys, 9 to 12, to be "strong in mind, spirit and body;" the Junior Hi-Y club, a program for boys and girls of the 12 to 14 age group to help promote worthwhile activities and emphasize interdenominational and democratic practices; and the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs, a nationwide high school and youth program to "create, maintain and extend through the home, school and community, high standards of Christian character."

The underlying purpose of all the programs is to teach all how to get along together and to build citizenship in a democracy. District, area and national Hi-Y conferences provide opportunity for state and national ideas and plans. The Youth and Government Model Legislatures are an outcropping of the Hi-Y program.

Cumberland's oldest teen-age activity, the Rec Club, was organized in 1943 and uses the YMCA for its programs, dances and weekly meetings. More than 18,291 teenagers used the Y's facilities in the past year in Rec Club activities.

Plans Complete For Safety Week October 10-17

Public Dinner Meet Set At Central YMCA

Plans for Allegany County's fifth annual Safety Week to be held October 10 to 17 are nearly complete according to Lynn Walker, coordinator of publicity for the event.

Safety programs will be planned in city and county schools, service clubs, hospitals and other organizations, Walker said.

A dinner meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 12 at Central YMCA, and will serve as a kickoff event for a week of intensive safety work. The public is invited to the meeting. Details of the public event will be announced later, Walker noted.

Paul L. Burley, president of the Western Maryland Safety Council, is general chairman of activities for the week. A. C. Howard and J. F. Chisholm are co-chairmen of publicity, and John M. McAlpine is coordinator of radio programs.

Other committees and chairmen for the observances are:

Displays, Edwin R. Lily; dinner meeting, Miles G. Thompson Jr.; school safety, J. Hubert Radcliffe; labor safety, F. P. A. Allender.

Fire safety, Robert C. Long and W. E. Lawyer; civil defense, William G. Barger; industrial safety, M. W. Work; traffic safety, Lt. W. E. O'Hara, and home safety, Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

Commissioner John J. Long is county-coordinator for safety activities of city and county governments.

The Western Maryland Safety Council which directs the Safety Week program is composed of representatives of the State Safety Department, industry, city, State Police, fire companies, organized labor, service clubs, PTA groups, insurance agents, public utility companies and advertising services. It was organized in 1948 in the interest of community safety.

Purpose of the organization is for the collection and dissemination of information that will promote the safety of the citizens, add to their health and happiness and make the homes and the community a safer place in which to live and work, Burley said.

Future CD Air Raid Alerts To Be Held On Surprise Basis

State Civil Defense Director Sherley Ewing announces that more state-wide air raid alerts will be held in the future.

Ewing said that the state agency was considering not announcing the time of the next test.

"We know that the public's reaction would have been much poorer without the prior publicity we received for 'Operation Checkup,'" he pointed out.

Public reaction to the recent test has indicated that future alerts are desirable. "We don't want to pester the people but, at the same time, none of us can forget that we are living in an age of peril," Ewing said.

He added that reports from all over the state indicate that the recent test was a "big success." Many local CD directors have requested that future tests be more of a surprise to the public, according to Ewing.

Emmanuel Episcopal Church will have a parish dinner at 6 p. m. Thursday.

The kitchen committee of Emmanuel Guild is sponsoring the dinner in honor of the men who worked and repainted and reconstructed the parish house. Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, church rector, urges all members of the parish to avail themselves of the opportunity to join in a friendly get-together.

Emmanuel Church Plans Parish Dinner

Emmanuel Episcopal Church will hold a sewing session at a meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the nursery room, Decatur Street.

Mrs. B. E. Burkey and Mrs. C. R. Burkey will be hostesses for the social hour following the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. O'Neal, Jane Frazier Village, a son Friday. Mr. and Mrs. James Jordan, Hyndman, a son Friday.

Gov. Marland named John R. Elue of Romney to the House of Delegates from Hampshire County today, to fill a vacancy.

Blue, a former principal at the West Virginia School for the Blind in Romney, will serve for a term ending Nov. 30, 1954.
